HISTORY CORNER

GUIDED HISTORY WALK

On 16 July Rosemary, ably assisted by Chris, conducted another walk through the Round Hill area. We met at the New Vic pub as usual and mustered twenty-three people and one dog. Our number included several children who behaved beautifully.

A little way into Richmond Road, Chris told us about his own house and some others and then we proceeded into Mayo Road, where we talked outside the site of the laundry (the new flats at Mayo Court). Thence we proceeded up Prince's Road to the rear of Jen and Marigold's house, where many of the group had reminiscences to add to Rosemary's commentary.

We passed on to Ditchling Road and then into Hollingdean Lane, to the Jewish Cemetery and the abattoir. We retraced our steps up Hollingdean Lane and then into Belton Road to the site of the windmill and bakery. After that, we walked down Ditchling Road, looking at a few of the original villas and into the Sylvan Hall estate on the corner of Upper Lewes Road. Chris had personal information to impart about this estate.

We walked up Wakefield Road to Fern Villa, where Lucy had kindly said we could explore the garden and magnificent view. Some of the party had not previously been aware of its existence, it is so secluded. We concluded with a climb down the Cat Creep and a stroll along Round Hill Crescent to No. 5 D'Aubigny Road, where we paused, and then finally to the site of the railway station and more information from Chris.

A very enjoyable time was had by all and we were extremely fortunate to find a window between thunderstorms. Thanks to both Rosemary and Chris.

CAR SHARE, ANYONE?

We're all increasingly aware of the problems caused by the quantity of cars on the road. Would anyone be interested in a car share scheme, similar to the one recently started in Hanover? It would need to be researched, grants applied for and administered. If anyone's keen to give it a go, please get in touch with the Editor on 276386 or pop a note through the door at 66 Richmond Road.

Schedule of Events

- November no date as we go to press, but look out for a flier through your door with the date of the AGM. Hopefully it will be on Monday 17
 November at Down's Infant School. If you'd like to join the Committee, please let Vivien know at least 4 weeks before the AGM. You're very welcome to phone for more information on becoming a committee member.
- Thursday Dec 19 at 6pm Carols and Candles event. Get your lanterns, voices and musical instruments ready to join in this annual event, culminating in mulled wine and mince pies. More details in the next issue.
- Committee meetings are held every month. If anyone has anything they want discussed by the committee, please phone Vivien Powell on 276386.

The Reporter is published by the Round Hill Society to keep residents in the area in touch with local news, events and each other. Every effort is made to present a fair and balanced view, while aiming to accept any material from Round Hill residents. The opinions expressed in The Reporter are not necessarily those of the Round Hill Society.

ROAD CLOSURE TO BECOME PERMANENT

It's hard to believe that those bollards have been in place in Richmond Road for six months. Accordingly, when the Environment Committee met on 31 July 2003, the Council's Transport Department submitted a report recommending that the closure be made permanent.

The Council had received 18 letters from local residents (that is not a misprint - out of nearly 1,000 households, only 18 people bothered to express their views in writing!). Of those 18, 13 were in favour of the closure, 3 opposed it and 2 expressed no preference either way.

The Environment Committee

agreed that the road closure be made permanent and it was also agreed that additional issues should be investigated further:

- Increased traffic in Wakefield Road/Prince's Crescent. It had been hoped that the sharp turn at the bottom of Wakefield Road would be a deterrent, but people are still using this route as a rat run.
- Vehicles parking across the emergency vehicle access (ie in front of the bollards). Signs will be in place advising people that this area must be left clear for emergency vehicles. Offending vehicles will in future be towed away.
- 3. The refuse collectors have reported difficulties negotiating some of our narrower streets because of vehicles illegally parked on corners, particularly on Round Hill Crescent/ Upper Lewes Road and D'Aubigny Road/Round Hill Crescent. It is likely that parking restrictions on these corners may be enforced. The difficulties experienced by the dustmen will also apply to fire appliances.

The works to complete the permanent closure should be carried out within the next 8 weeks, complete with a planter to make it more attractive.

ROUND HILL SURVEY

Congratulations to all the young people in Round Hill who took exams this summer - whether it be GCSEs, A' levels or degrees, it's a lot of hard work - and good luck with the next stage of your lives.

Thank you to the 30 people who sent in their questionnaires from the June issue of the Round Hill Reporter. We're currently in the process of analysing the data and will have all the results for you in the next issue. We will also make sure that the police are made aware of the results - very few people seem happy with the level of policing in the Round Hill area.

TALKING RUBBISH

The next 2 pages are devoted entirely to the subject of refuse - what we all do with it, when it's collected and how to dispose of those awkward

Every Friday morning, some of our pavements are strewn with rubbish from bags torn asunder by seagulls and one has to tiptoe through this unhygienic mess. Why don't we all a) recycle whatever we can and b) use a dustbin for the nonrecyclable rubbish?

HELP IS AT HAND! There are shops who will offer us a discount if we buy dustbins in quantity (more than 5). If you would like to take advantage of this generous offer, please get in touch with Rob Stephenson (673511). If we have enough interest, we will go ahead and buy the dustbins.

OBITUARY

Lindsay Lee was a founder member of the Round Hill Historical Society and joined in its work enthusiastically, conducting a number of interviews and helping to prepare the tapes for publication in the projected book on the area. I got to know her quite well and we walked to the sea several times to visit the West Pier, a consuming passion of hers. Before she moved to Brighton, whilst still working in London, if she was unable to sleep she would drive down to see the sun rise over the pier and then drive back to work, refreshed.

One thing I must mention is that Lindsey, who was never seen other than immaculately turned out, did most of her own building work, skilled carpentry and all her own plumbing. Also, how she loved the toad who lived in her back garden.

We knew she was ill, but not how seriously, and it was a great shock when we heard of her death at the end of May. Four of us from the Society attended her funeral in June.

Lindsey, we loved knowing you and appreciated your many talents, especially your dry sense of humour, and you are missed.

You may have read in the local press that the Council has approved a scheme to replace doorstep collections with communal bins and that the scheme will come to parts of St Peter's. Each giant bin will cater for 25 households and they will be introduced early next year. At present there are no plans to introduce this scheme in the Round Hill area.

IT'S HAPPENING - CELEBRATE THE REGENERATION OF BRIGHTON & HOVE

On Tuesday 9th September 2003 the Brighton & Hove Regeneration Partnership is hosting a free event at the Brighton Corn Exchange. The event is open to the public between 12.30 and 4.30 and will include a public exhibition of many of the most exciting regeneration projects that have been happening in the city since 1995. There will be opportunities to talk to many of the city's key decisionmakers and find out more about the past, present and future regeneration of the city. Exhibitors include: Brighton Dome and Museum; Preston Barracks Masterplan; Phoenix Art Gallery; Coalition 4 Youth and a wide range of other exhibitors. Not only will there be opportunities to find out more about the work of these projects and organisations, but there will also be the chance to find out how you can get involved in projects designed to improve life in your city and your community.

The event will also mark the launch of the Brighton & Hove Regeneration Partnership's Interim Report entitled "It's Happening". This report highlights some of the key achievements of projects funded through the Brighton & Hove SRB Programme which has been running from 1995 and ends in 2006. The report also outlines some of the key challenges for the Partnership in the future.

There will be a café running throughout the day and everyone is welcome. For more information contact Ivan Clarke in the City Council's SRB Team on 01273 291110 or email ivan.clarke@brighton-hove.gov.uk

MAGPIE RECYCLING CO-OPERATIVE

MAGPIE RECYCLING CO-OP

ALL RESIDENTS OF BRIGHTON AND HOVE

CAN NOW RECYCLE OVER 50% OF THEIR

WASTE AT A COST OF £1 -£2 PER WEEK.

ARE YOU DOING YOUR BIT?

CALL 01273 500021 NOW!

You may have seen some press coverage on Magpie recently which suggests that they are both unreliable and failing Health & Safety standards as a business. As they are just round the corner, and many people in Round Hill use their kerbside collection, it seemed reasonable to hear what they have to say. I spoke to Rob Jones-Mantle who gave me his views.

Their core business is kerbside collection and recycling of around 10 different materials, which is typically 60% of household waste, and costs about £1 a week. In addition they have an 'opt in scheme which provides plastic sacks for the same range of materials. This is particularly useful if you take your bottles, cans and paper to a 'bring' site. The 'opt in' sack can be used for plastic bottles and green waste and tetra packs (those cardboard boxes for fruit juice and other liquids). When the sack is full you call Magpie and they will collect it, for just £1 a sack. They have 5000 kerbside customers and 500 'opt in' customers, though they are losing kerbside customers where the Council's own kerbside scheme is being developed. The 'opt in' and Green Box schemes may grow in those areas because it is unlikely that the Council scheme will try to cover the wide range of materials offered by Magpie. Magpie believe in maximising recycling, leading ultimately to creating local businesses processing the wastes into useful products, whilst the Council will probably aim to meet the Government target of 30% recovery, with the rest going to a major incinerator near Newhaven.

The press coverage said that Magpie left bring sites with overflowing bins, but the picture in the Argus was of a site managed by another organisation. The accusation of unreliability might fairly be levelled at the vehicles provided for Magpie to operate the collections, but not to the staff, says Rob. In addition, Magpie received a letter from the Council saying their operations met European Health and Safety requirements on the very day that the local paper reported the Council as saying Magpie's Health and > Safety standards were inadequate. If you'd like to give Magpie a try, contact them at the number given in the advert in this article. Perhaps we should be seeking an open market in refuse, like we have in gas and telephones. Then we could decide who should handle our wastes, and pay or the amount we generate, rather than paying the Council (through our Council Tax) to use Magpie. Ultimately paying a fixed amount for waste management, no matter how much you generate, or recycle, or compost, seems a flawed method. Surely paying per bag would be a better way to get people into waste minimisation.

Rob Stephenson.

GREEN CONE FOOD DIGESTERS

The Green Cone System is a completely natural system that reduces your food waste to its natural components of water, carbon dioxide and nutrient rich

Over 90% of the waste material in your Green Cone will be absorbed as water by the soil soil conditioner. It takes ALL cooked and uncooked food waste including meat, fish, bones, dairy products, vegetables and fruit. It's a solar-heated unit and needs very little effort from you. When food waste is kept separate, remaining household waste is clean and dry and much easier to recycle, there's less waste for collection and less production of methane gas in landfill sites. You can use this for your food waste and a compost bin for your garden waste.

In the September issue of the Round Hill Reporter, we ran a picture competition, tempting you with the brand new Harry Potter book as a prize. Guess how many pictures we received? None, zilch, zero. Not one single tiny little line drawing was pushed through the editor's letterbox. Are there any children at all in Round Hill? If there are, why are you hiding? Or were you just much too busy reading the new Harry Potter book to bother with a picture competition? Do your parents show you the Round Hill Reporter? Do you have any interests you want to share with other readers? Do you have any opinions about what it's like for children living in our area? Unless we get some feedback from you, there just won't be a children's page at all and I know there are lots of you out there really. So while I wait for you to tell me what you want from your local newsletter and from your local society, you'll just have to make do with a few ideas we've come up with for you. Please send your ideas and thoughts, pictures and stories to me at 66 Richmond Road,

WIZARDS AND SPOOKS AND THINGS THAT

You will need a:

- Pumpkin
- Safety saw or sharp kitchen knife

PUMPKIN LANTERN

- Spoon or ice-cream scoop
- Marker pen
- Tea light
- 1. Cut a lid from the top of the pumpkin using the safety saw or sharp knife (with an adult's help).

- 2. Scrape out the seeds and strings with the spoon or ice cream scoop.
- 3. Try out a design on paper and then draw it onto the pumpkin with the marker pen. Cut round the outlines.
- 4. Place the tea light inside the pumpkin. Cut a chimney hole in the lid to let the heat out from the flame.

Tip: Save the seeds to toast in the oven with olive oil and salt for a tasty snack.

butter, 1 teaspoon malt vinegar, 150ml water and a 19cm square, shallow, lightly oiled tin.

First take a very large saucepan, put all the ingredients into it and slowly bring to the boil over a low heat (10–15 mins), stirring occasionally. When the sugar has completely dissolved, turn the heat up a little and let the mixture bubble away without stirring for about 10 more minutes. Test for setting: remove saucepan from heat, then drop a teaspoonful of the mixture into a saucer of cold water. If it sets immediately into a soft, pliable ball, the toffee is ready. Pour the toffee out of the pan and into the prepared tin and leave it to set. When Editor set, turn it out onto a board and break it into pieces with a small hammer. Store what you don't eat in a polythene bag. For toffee apples, wash & dry some apples and firmly push large lolly sticks into them, dip them into the hot toffee when it's at setting point, and leave them upside down on greased greaseproof paper until they're ready.

The young crow pictured on a garden fence had recently taken its maiden flight from one of the few elms left in the Upper Lewes Road, and seemed to decide that was enough flying for a while. The same tree has attracted up to three grey squirrels, which get there across our roof and one mighty leap. At this time of year they have so much energy it's amazing to watch them play vertical hide and seek in the tree, often whilst shoppers pass below oblivious of the treetop action. All that activity needs fuel, and they are regular visitors to the back garden medlars, rose hips and crab apples.

I've yet to see the squirrels try apples or blackberries, unlike the pair of blackbirds and their two offspring which seem to spend all their time eating the riper bits out of apples on our trees, and leaving blackberry stained droppings on our washing. The blackbird family has reached an interesting stage where they travel together half the time, and the rest of the time the adults chase their young away.

On the 9th of August, high in the sky six swifts wheeled and screamed, whilst at first floor height a pair of large dragonflies quartered the air with apparent geometrical precision – both seeking insects. The swifts, adults and this year's young, will soon be leaving for Africa but the large blue and black dragonflies are probably Migrant Hawkers – forced out of northern France by a population boom as adults emerged from ponds and lakes, and are just feeding whilst passing through Round Hill looking for bigger ponds than we can offer to lay their eggs.

They say there is a massive decline in House Sparrows, but a flock of nine adults and young has been working our back gardens for a couple of weeks now, seeking insects in shrubs, trees and gaps in walls and between roof tiles. One of them seemed far to slim and elegant to be a sparrow, and a closer look revealed that a Willow Warbler (or a Chiff Chaff – I certainly can't tell them apart) had joined the flock.
